Percentage increase in average hourly earnings

The increase in average hourly earnings for the leave-earning year from 1 April 2014 to 31 March 2016 will be 0,4 %. The personal average hourly earnings of an employee are reckoned by increasing average hourly annual holiday earnings by the collectively agreed percentage figure of 0.4.

Travel expenses

A new facility for local bargaining of compensation for travelling expenses and travelling time was included in the new collective agreement. The employer's permanent establishment will serve as point-zero for expense compensation under the new local bargaining arrangements.

The employee will be compensated according to the price of a separate ticket for the return journey to any worksite outside the kilometre distance from the permanent establishment specified by district in the following table. Compensation will be paid for travelling time if the return travelling time to the worksite exceeds a total of 1 hour. Compensation will similarly be paid for each full subsequent hour. The kilometre distances vary by district and have been reckoned in accordance with the boundaries currently specified in the collective agreement. Journeys will be measured according to the actual distance travelled along public highways.
